INSURRECTION AT HOME AND MOORISH REVOLT JAR EVERY FOUNDATION OF KING ALFONSO'S THRONE

SPAIN IN REVOLT KING LOSES GRIP

Moors Gaining Victories; Spanish Populace Rebels Against Alfonso; Revolution is Threatened

WEYLER MILITARY DICTATOR

Gen. Pinto's Death Cheers the Moors Who Fight Fiercely; Losses in Battles Are Great

MADRID, Via Frontier, July 29.—Spain is today on the verge of a revolution that threatens to drop Alfonso from the throne and engulf the country in an upheaval equal to the French revolution of 1793. All of today's developments, both at home and in Morocco indicate the government is rapidly losing its grip and it is now declared that foreign intervention alone can save Alfonso's throne. There is danger that the revolutionary wave has spread too far even for this to suffice.

"Down With the King" The disaffection in Madrid has reached the point where it is no longer safe for the king to venture from the palace. Crowds gathered in front of the palace today and shouted "down with the king."

Alfonso attempted to appease the wrath of the populace by appearing at one of the palace balconies but a storm of hisses and jeers drove him from the balcony and he was driven to the interior of the palace. He has always been counted one of Spain's most beloved rulers and the feeling against him can be interrupted in no other way than that the foreign situation has suddenly caused the spirit of revolution and of opposition to the war in Morocco.

The supporters of the government have become hostile on account of the government's attempts to suppress the news from Melilla. The public demands the resignation of the minister of the interior who is called a "newspaper hater" and has threatened to arrest couriers coming from Barcelona.

It is expected General Weyler, known for his barbarous rule in Cuba, will be appointed military dictator today following yesterday's declaration of martial law throughout the country.

The situation at Barcelona continues desperate. If the revolutionaries are not speedily checked, they themselves will complete the wreckage of the city. They are now declared to be in possession of practically the entire city and several important suburbs.

Destroy Buildings, Cripple Railways The latest buildings to be destroyed by the moors are the beautiful church of San Pablo and the great college Des Escaleras de San Antonio. The loss of these buildings is a national disaster.

The revolutionists are preparing for a sturdy resistance to the reinforcements now enroute to Barcelona. Barricades made of earth and cement and one story in height have been thrown up in a number of streets and hundreds of well armed revolutionists now man the defenses. The tramways of the city are completely out of commission today and most of the cars have been wrecked. The railways are also crippled, no train service is being attempted.

Spaniards are Hard Pressed GIBRALTAR, July 29.—Official news from Melilla shows that the Spanish garrison is in a serious strait and has been compelled to retreat into the forts at Melilla under the guns of the Spanish warships in the harbor.

All the outposts previously held by the Spanish soldiers have been given up to the victorious Moors and the Spaniards, sorely pressed, rely on the warship shells to save them from surrender or complete annihilation. The news of the death of Gen. Pinto, the brave Spanish general, who has been in personal command of all the active fighting on the outposts, has given heart to the Moorish besiegers.

Moors Fight Fiercely. So fierce have the Moorish rushes been that every outlying position the Spaniards had held had to be given up, the Spaniards retreating under a galling fire. Though the Spaniards claim the Moorish losses have been terrible and seek to minimize their own losses, it is known that the Spaniards have suffered heavily in dead and wounded and until more reinforcements are rushed to the beleaguered city even the (Continued on page 6.)

HUMPHREY DECIDES PLAN OF COMMITTEE

State Arbitrator Will Not Render Decision Until Wage Scale Has Been Settled

According to the figures submitted by the street railway employees to the committee on arbitration yesterday, men who run street cars receive less wages than the white wings who sweep the city streets. Mr. Fred Fay, international representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, drew the comparison in the session yesterday afternoon at the small council chamber in the city hall.

Mr. Fay asked Mr. W. J. Ferris, point blank if he thought this was right, and Mr. Ferris replied that the reason the street sweepers get so much money ($1.75 per day) is because they only have work part of the year, while the carmen have work all of the time.

Wages of Other Crafts. In connection with the wage question Mr. Fay presented a brief showing the wages paid to other craft and asked that they be compared with the scale of the carmen. The speaker said that the figures were based on the figures in labor headquarters and are approximately correct. The figures follow:

- Barbers, $14 per week and commissions.
  - Bartenders, $12 per week, 10 hours per day.
  - Brewery workers, $14 to $16 per week, 9 hours per day; 40 cents overtime.
  - Beer bottlers, $2 per day, 9 hours.
  - Blacksmiths, 30 to 37 cents per hour, 10 hours.
  - Brick layers, 60 cents per hour, 8 hours.
  - Coopers, 35 cents per hour.
  - Electricians, $2.50 to $2.75, 8 hours.
  - Horse shoers, $2.50 per day, 8 hours.
  - Hod carriers, 25 cents per hour, 9 hours.
  - Meat cutters, $14 per week.
  - Moulders, $2.50 to $3, 10 hours.
  - Painters, 35 cents, 8 hours.
  - Plasterers, $4, 8 hours.
  - Typographical machine men, $16 to $30 per week; floormen, $15.
  - Brewery drivers, $14 and $15 per week, 40 cents per hour overtime.
  - Teamsters, $1.75 to $2 per day, 10 hours.
  - Street sweepers, $1.75 per day, 17 1/2 cents per hour.
  - Common laborers, $1.50 to $1.75 per day.
  - Plumbers and steam fitters, $4, 8 hours.
  - Stone masons, $4, 8 hours.
- La Crosse Cars Hardest Work. Work on the cars is harder in La Crosse than in most cities, said the speaker. Motormen in this city are not allowed to sit down at all on duty, their hours are long and tedious, and many of them are second

ROTHSCHILD LOVE ROMANCE DENIED

Dr. Menn Indignantly Denies His Daughter Was Engaged to or Even Knew Rothschild

CHICAGO, July 29.—Olga Menn, for love of whom Baron Oskar Rothschild was reported to have committed suicide in Vienna, was never engaged to the baron and probably never knew him, according to a statement by her father, Dr. Rudolph Menn. Dr. Menn said his wife and daughter are prostrated in Vienna, not from grief over Rothschild's death, "but because of the humiliation of the linking of her name with the tragedy." He also characterized as "silly" reports that he was going to sue the elder Rothschild for defamation of character, or fight a duel with him.

Those pen sketches of my receiving packages of cablegrams," said Dr. Menn, "and of weeping as I stood on my front steps, were so melodramatic that I really hate to deny, as I am forced to, that I ever did that sort of thing. I am not aware that my daughter ever knew the baron. There certainly was no engagement. So you see how wild were the accounts of my challenging the father to a duel."

ELECTRICAL STORMS; MANY PROSTRATED

DETROIT, Mich., July 29.—Following the worst electrical storm of the summer early today was the heaviest fall of rain in so short a time in the bureau's history. The hospitals and police are preparing to care for cases of heat prostrations. The storm kept all Detroit awake from midnight on, and practically stopped street traffic. Many of the suburbanites had to make a part of their journey to work today on rafts.

NICK'S WIFE TO FLY WITH AERO CLUB

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Among other distinguished victims of the aero-bug is Mrs. Nick Longworth. She has been in daily attendance at the Fort Myer trials and hopes some day to get permission from Orville Wright to accompany him on one of his flights. She has already obtained her husband's consent to accept an invitation from A. Holland Forbes, president of the Aero club of America, to make a balloon ascension.

Regarding the arrangement of the runs, it was stated that they could not be worse if the arbitrators thought so.

JEROME DRASTIC THAW CONFIDENT

Lay Bare 38 Years of Life Like Thaw's; Question of Sanity to Be Tested by Minute Details

BATTLE OF THE BRAINS

Thaw Shows Wit Rather than Insanity; Evelyn Thaw Is In Court Today

By Wm. Traverse Jerome, for the United Press: "My examination of Harry K. Thaw has just begun. I propose to question him closely on every detail of his trial for the killing of Stanford White and if necessary, on every detail of his thirty-eight years of his life. I shall settle once and for all the question of his sanity if I have to keep him on the stand for a week."

By Harry K. Thaw, for the United Press: "I am confident I can withstand any cross-examination of Jerome's. Yesterday proved that. I think I don't care how long he keeps me there. I am confident I can prove to justice Miller that I am absolutely sane. This is my first opportunity to do something for myself in my battle for life and liberty which has lasted for three years and I am glad to get it."

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 29.—

A sane man and a legally insane man fought a battle of wits here yesterday; and the "insane" man won. And so, jubilant over the success of yesterday, Harry Thaw faced his ancient enemy, Wm. Traverse Jerome today, eager to continue the ordeal. Everyone who saw Thaw and heard his testimony was astonished at the keen wit of the "insane man." His relatives and counsel are enthusiastically certain that his release is but a matter of days.

Jerome, however, entered the court room with three bags of documents today, prepared to keep up the battle of the brains. Yesterday Jerome was so astounded by the mental poise of Thaw that he begged the witness to submit to a private examination by alienists. Thaw insisted the public examination proceed.

Thaw has indicated that his attitude toward the charges of perverted practices made by Mrs. Susan A. Merrill will be a total denial. Thaw's attorney entered into so many objections to the testimony of Hartridge that the entire morning session was spent with Thaw's former council on the witness stand.

THAW ON STAND.

At the afternoon session of the court Jerome resumed his Thaw quiz. "Were you crazy when you killed Stanford White?" fired the prosecutor.

"I think I was legally crazy but not medically crazy," answered Thaw.

Then ensued an attempt on the part of Jerome to upset Thaw on the question, quoting at length from the testimony of the alienists at the murder trials. During his involved colloquy, Evelyn Thaw entered the courtroom. She wore the same "schoolgirl" plaid dress she wore yesterday, together with her immense black hat. She took her usual place inside the railing and watched her husband closely.

Try as he might, Jerome was unable to get around Thaw's contention that when he killed White he was suffering from a "brain storm" and nothing else.

PRESIDENT TO TAKE MISSISSIPPI TRIP

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—President Taft has accepted the invitation to visit St. Louis and go from there down the Mississippi river to New Orleans, where he will attend the Lakes to the Gulf Waterways convention. The date of his arrival in St. Louis will be Oct. 26, and he will stay over night there and leave for the south on board of one of the palatial river steamers the following day.

The president's steamboat will lead a flotilla of at least 30 vessels and in the procession it is expected there will be 30 governors of states, the vice president, the speaker of the house of representatives and a large number of senators and representatives in congress.

Monster Picnic at Trempealeau Today is Biggest in History of the Association

Big Excursion Boat Arrives at Grounds Early and Events Prove of Real Interest

(By Staff Correspondent.) TREMPLEAU, Wis., July 29.—(Special.)—When the palatial excursion steamer "W. The crowd went directly to the picnic grounds, and after a sumptuous dinner had been disposed of arrangements were immediately made to start the splendid program of events which had been prepared by the committee in charge. There were all sorts of contests and races for the ladies, the gentlemen, the old maids and the children, and in each some sort of prize had been offered to make the thing worth while. The contests will continue up to the hour of the return and at present there is no prospect but what this will be the most successful picnic in the history of the Grocers' picnic, from every point of view.

CARMEN GAIN OPEN ARBITRATION TODAY

Chairman Humphrey Decides Question Concerns the Public and All May Attend

FERRIS ASKED CLOSED DOOR

Thought This Would Expedite Settlement of the Questions at Issue

The carmen won their first victory from the company at this afternoon's session, when they secured a ruling from Chairman Humphrey of the arbitration board, that henceforth all meetings of the board shall be open meetings and the public will be permitted to be present.

At the opening of the session this afternoon at 1 o'clock Arbitrator W. J. Ferris, representing the street car company brought in a resolution that the sessions of the board and taking of testimony should all be conducted behind closed doors, only the members of the board and witnesses, with representatives of the press being permitted to be present. Mr. Ferris based this request on the ground that it would expedite the investigation, as it would stop interference from interested parties on the floor.

Mr. Hartwell, the company's arbitrator, said that this request comes

EDWARDS PLEADS POVERTY

Pleading poverty, claiming that the La Crosse City Railway company is not a paying corporation, that its dividend last year was only 5 1/2 per cent, that its expenses are higher than before, and its charges are fixed, President B. E. Edwards of the La Crosse City Railway company this afternoon plead with the members of the arbitration board at the meeting, that the board will not grant any material increase in the wage scale to the men.

Mr. Edwards denies that he has at any time promised any of the men an increase in wages, but that he had told some of the five year men that the company might advance these men if conditions warranted it to 22 cents per hour.

Regarding the increase in the cost of living, Mr. Edwards claimed that there has been no material increase in the price of foodstuffs since 1907, except possibly flour. He said that his men were naturally fitted for clerical positions, and that in case they did not work for the company, would naturally take to that line of work. He said that the average wage of clerks is from nine to twelve dollars per week.

with poor grace from Mr. Ferris and the car company, who have already delayed the arbitration considerably. He said that on account of Mr. Ferris being out of the city the board was prevented from holding sessions one whole day, and also this morning, when the arbitrator had other business matters.

"This is a matter in which the carmen are all vitally interested," he said. "It is a public matter, the public wants to know, and we have nothing we wish to conceal in this investigation."

"This board is presided over by an officer of the state of Wisconsin, paid by the people of the state of Wisconsin, and as I understand it the whole sense of the law is that this should be a public investigation."

Mr. Ferris replied that never since the board had been appointed had there been any delay caused either by Mr. Ferris or the company except one day, when he was unavoidably called out of town and this morning, when it was impossible for him to be present. He said he was not aware that a day had been lost until he returned here and found that Mr. Humphrey, the third member, had been waiting.

Mr. Hartwell—"I wish to be set right before Mr. Ferris. I do not wish to object to his not being present when he had other important business matters which required him elsewhere, but I do object to his using the argument for a closed session, that it will 'expedite' the investigation. It comes with poor grace from Mr. Ferris."

Mr. Ferris said that the representatives of the press would always be admitted and that the public would be duly informed of the proceedings.

Mr. Hartwell—"This being the carmen's fight, with our men seated (Continued on page 6.)

TAKES POISON FOR MEDICINE IN ERROR

S. H. Fitzwater Nearly Dies as Result of Mistake at 9 O'clock This Morning

PHYSICIAN SAVES HIS LIFE

Stomach Pump Applied and Well Known Front Street Saloon Keeper Is Now Recovering

Taking a dose of fly poison this morning in place of his medicine, S. H. Fitzwater, the well known saloon-keeper at 221 South Front street, came very near dying at 9:30 o'clock. The prompt arrival of Dr. Bechmann and the application of a stomach pump is all that saved his life.

Mr. Fitzwater kept a bottle of medicine on the back bar and this morning a bottle containing a liquid fly poison of the same color was sitting beside it. He picked up the wrong bottle and took a large dose before he discovered his mistake. Upon the advice of someone in the room Fitzwater immediately drank a couple of glasses of warm milk, with the result that a portion at least of the poison was emitted from his stomach. Efforts were made to secure a physician by telephone but as none were available Mr. A. L. Gams who was at his feed store opposite jumped into his automobile and racing up the street succeeded in procuring Dr. Bechmann who was hurried to the scene. Mr. Fitzwater was in pain, but the prompt application of a stomach pump relieved his suffering.

He was still weak this afternoon and is suffering somewhat from the effects of his unpleasant experience, but the physician announces that he is out of danger.

Mr. Fitzwater is one of the best known saloonkeepers in the city, having conducted his present place of business at the foot of the wagon bridge for a number of years.

OAKLEY, Kan., July 29.—Only ten cars had perfect scores when the Glidden tourists resumed their journey today. The rough roads encountered yesterday played havoc with springs and other parts of the machines.

The Glide 10 and Mason No. 112 were penalized for delay at the checking station. The Thomas No. 11, Glidden cup car, broke its sub-frame when it went into a ditch and the engine was knocked out of alignment. The machine was towed to Oakley by the Maxwell press car and will be withdrawn. A Studebaker car, driven by Harry McIntosh, went into a ditch 22 miles from Hugo and broke a wheel. The first 30 miles of road traversed yesterday is said to have been the worst so far encountered. The tourists will reach Salina today and the trip will end at Kansas City tomorrow.

By taking two hard fought games from the Lumberjacks yesterday the Outcasts made it four straight in three days, and are now within 15 points of the lead.

Dunbar hurled the first game for the visitors and pitched shutout ball until the sixth inning, allowing the locals not a single hit. In this round they bunched three safeties and tied the score, finally winning in the eleventh on a drive to right field by Klein.

Pfeffer pitched gilt-edged ball and allowed but six hits in the eleven innings. The first scoring was done by the Mackmen in the fourth round. McCarthy was out at first and Dolan slammed out the first hit of the game to right field and stole second. Roland got a base on balls and Bourgeois drove a hit to right field scoring Dolan. Burns struck out and Casey filed out to Malloy, who made a long, low running catch, which saved several scores.

In the sixth McCarthy filed out to Kraher and Dolan slammed out a hit to left field. Roland followed with a safety to center and Dolan scored when Kraher threw Bourgeois out at first. Burns was hit by Pfeffer and stole second. It looked like more scoring for a while but mighty Casey struck out.

La Crosse came to bat and when the round was over the score was tied. Pfeffer opened and was out. Hoppe to Dolan. Malloy struck out and Doll, the new third sacker, slammed out the first hit off Dunbar, to center field and stole second. Eddie Kline was passed and Letcher grounded to Hoppe, the ball taking a bad bound as it reached the dumpy shortstop and going over his dome to left field. Doll scoring. Safford scored Kline with a hit to left field and Klein grounded to Dunbar, who threw him out at first.

At the end of the ninth the game was still a tie. In the eleventh Letcher drew a base on balls, stole second and went to third when Safford beat a punt to first. Klein ended the game by slamming a peach to right field scoring Letcher and breaking up the game. Score:

THE TROLLEY DODGERS WIN

Pastorius Hurls a Hitless Game Until the Ninth When Phillies Get a Triple

Klein opened the next round by flying out to left field and Schriner got a free pass. Kraher hit to center and Schardt grounded to Roland who threw the pill to Hoppe at second. Hoppe dropped it and Kraher was safe. In the second round, Schriner trotted for the pan and slid across safely. Mallon batted one	TEAM STANDINGS American Association.

The Detroit Americans knocked Cy Young out of the box in the seventh inning yesterday, making three runs and tying the score. In the eighth with Falkenberg pitching, Bush scored the winning run on his hit. Crawford's single and Cobb's sacrifice fly.

Philadelphia won both games of yesterday's double header, with Washington in hollow style, 7 to 6 and 6 to 0. Plank and Krause kept the local batters puzzled in both games, while Groom and Hughes were wild and ineffective.

Boston hit Warhop and Lake when hits meant runs and won 8 to 2. Backed by splendid fielding, especially by Clement and McEwen, Pastorius pitched the greatest game of the National League season, Brooklyn taking the game, 4 to 0. Not a hit was made off him until one man was out in the ninth inning, when Martell, a substitute batsman, tripled to left center. Clement drove in three of Brooklyn's runs with two singles.

New York made it three out of four by winning two games from Boston, the first 7 to 4 and the second 4 to 3. The first game went to the Giants by good hitting in the first and seventh innings. The second contest was close, but long drawn out. New York winning by opportune hitting. Doyle was put out of the game and Seymour out of the second, both for accidentally hitting the catcher with their bats, a new rule imposing the penalty.

Pittsburg won yesterday's game from Cincinnati by hard hitting. Of its ten hits, three were doubles, and three were triples. Maddox was steady all the way. The work of Pittsburg's outfield was fine. Reulbach's pitching was the feature of the first game, Chicago winning 5 to 1. Evans won the second game for the Cardinals with a three-base hit when the bases were full, score 5 to 4.

CLOSED ALL DAY FRIDAY

We've simply got to do it.

We look for an enormous business Saturday, and we must have everything right.

We've secured extra help and we want to make selection of fabrics and measure taking as easy as possible.

On Saturday morning, bright and early, we'll be ready for you, and the values we shall show you in suitings and overcoatings—summer, fall and winter—will surpass anything you can possibly have expected.

Though the price is absolutely a shame for the values, we shall not in any manner skimp the quality of the workmanship. Every garment will be made by our best Union tailors and the same care taken as though you were paying full prices.

We regret being compelled to quit, but in doing so we intend to leave a good name behind. We may come back again some day and if we do we want to feel you're glad to see us.

By the by, our store is for rent, and if you know of anyone who wants a first class location, send them around.

Yours truly,

HOMWOOD TOURNEY NEARLY FINISHED

FLOSSMOOR, Ill., July 29.—With all of the "outsiders" eliminated from the western golf championship tournament, eight Chicago players today began play in the third round of the tournament, at the Homewood Country club links. The survivors of yesterday's sensational rounds are nearly all youngsters but the elder and more experienced tournament players have proved no match for them. One sensation was the fact that not only are all the outsiders eliminated, but not a Homewood player remains in the tournament.

Following a day and night of scorching heat, light rain fell for an hour this morning and the greens were pronounced lightning fast.

Pairings for the third round follow:
R. A. Gardner, Hinsdale, and K. P. Edwards, Middlethian.
A. Zeckel, Riverside, and D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton.
C. Evans, Jr., Edgewater, and L. Maxwell, Hinsdale.
Paul Hunter, Middlethian, and R. Hoagland, Riverside.

EAGER TO LAND THE JEFF JOHNSON SCRAP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 29.—Fight promoters all up and down the Pacific coast are preparing today to bid against each other for the Jeffries-Johnson fight, now that the bout seems to be a certainty. The eagerness of the promoters to land the fight indicates that an immense purse probably will be offered. Tom McCarry announced that "he would land that fight or know the reason why." He said he could get unlimited backing from Los Angeles business men who are anxious to have Jeffries return to the ring in his home city. Jimmy Coffroth of San Francisco is expected to make a hard fight to get the bout.

JEFFRIES POSTS $5,000; FIGHT WITH JOHNSON

NEW YORK, July 29.—James J. Jeffries posted with Robert Edgren, sporting editor of the New York Evening World, five $1,000 bills to act as a portion of the forfeit he posts to bind his fight with Jack Johnson for the heavyweight champion of the world. In posting his forfeit of $5,000, Jeffries gave out seven conditions under which he will fight Johnson. They are:
1. That Jeffries will defend his title as heavyweight champion.
2. That they are to fight before the club offering the largest purse.
3. That the fight is to be from 20 to 100 rounds.
4. That when final articles are signed he will post another $5,000.
5. That Johnson must post a similar sum—$10,000 in all and this sum when posted, shall act as a side bet, the entire sum to be taken by the winner of the fight.
6. The entire sum when posted is to be turned over to some reputable stakeholder, preferably John P.

LOOK TO THE GREEN BAY.

After the people of La Crosse had been trying for years to find some
means of access to Trempealeau
valley, the Green Bay Railway company recently gave them what was wanted by a change of schedules and additional service.

At the time this was done the railway company made plain the fact that THE CHANGE WOULD
NOT BE JUSTIFIED BY PRES-ENT BUSINESS, and that La Crosse
BUSINESS MEN MUST INCREASE THEIR PATRONAGE of the road in order to sustain the cost of the service, and to compensate for the loss
of business on the through trains
from Green Bay.

This has not been done, and the company makes no secret of the fact that the new arrangement has subjected it to constant loss. The natural consequence of these conditions will be a resumption of the old schedules, and a discontinuance of the new service. The company is free to take this step, as its ability to show the railway commission that
the service is a losing game is all that is necessary, even in the event
a fight is made to compel the retention of the present schedules.

The Tribune feels itself under obligation to urge a fuller patronage
of the Green Bay by local businessmen. This paper fought for years
to secure the service, often adversely criticizing the railroad company
for failure to give it. Now it has been secured, and if every businessman would route as much stuff as possible over the lines, it could be maintained as a regular institution.
It means much to La Crosse to keep
the present schedules, and it is not unfair to say that if they are lost the responsibility must rest upon local merchants and jobbers who have allied to show appreciation of the effort to accommodate them. Here

SPOTLIGHTS

"Under the Harvest Moon"
The forthcoming production of
"Under the Harvest Moon," promises to be one of the real treats of the season. It contains all the elements
that go to make the successful play
of today without those objectionable
features so often found and against which intelligent theatergoers rebel.
In "Under the Harvest Moon"
we have a four act rural comedy drama of the modern school. It is clean, bright, full of comedy and
pathos and a thoroughly wholesome
play and while "Under the Harvest Moon" has many quaint lines and comedy situations, there are many
scenes of genuine dramatic intensity,
for there is plenty of heart interest
throughout its four acts. Two of the acts especially appeal to the audience, the old Stebbins farm near Haskinsville, Maine, overlooking the Hudson, is a very realistic picture.
The setting in the third act is beautiful. It shows the Haskinsville church
on Christmas eve, and a realistic
snow storm is produced. The characters of the play are all natural and
not overdrawn, in fact there is no need of it, for the reason that New England in which most of the scenes
are laid offered the opportunity to
the playwright for character studies
which can be found in no other place.
It is a most complete production
scenically, every effect to the smallest detail being carried by the company. This production comes to the La Crosse theater, matinee and night,
Sunday, Aug. 1.

THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

GENIUS STYLED REINCARNATION OF MOZART

In the Spanish city of Barcelona
less than 13 years ago, was born of human parentage Pepito Arriola, who has been styled the reincarnation of Mozart. He stands out as the most wonderful example of musical precoc-ity of the present age. When only 3
years old he performed wonderful feats upon the piano. The following year he studied under the famous
teachers in Germany and when he was 8 appeared in public, playing the C minor concerto of Beethoven. In this the boy displayed wonderful
technical proficiency which astonished the critics.

His parents were anxious that the
phenomenal gift should not be unduly forced, and another year elapsed
before Pepito's next public engagement, this time in London, and he captured the English critics as completely as he had the German.
A few more London and Berlin appearances, from 1905 up to the present time, about completes the sum total of his public life, but it was enough to make him one of the sensations of the present London season. His playing is brilliant, possessing the elegance of the Gallic style,
despite his German education, and displays a wonderful amount of individuality.

Pepito's first American appearance is scheduled for a Metropolitan opera Sunday concert, after which he will make a limited number
of appearances in the larger cities.
Special pianos are being constructed for this tour, with shortened ped-
als and narrow keyboard, an ordinary piano being too large for the child. His engagements are limited to three appearances a week, and at
no orchestral appearance will he be allowed to play more than one cen-
certo.

One for Himself
President Taft is fond of children,
with whom he is a favorite. A charming story on this head comes from Cincinnati.

Once, when a pretty Cincinnati
girl was a child of 6 or 7, Mr. Taft, calling at her house, found nobody
home excepting herself. She entertained him a little while, and when he rose to go she stooped down and kissed her.
"Here's one," he said, "for the baby. Here is another for little Jim.
And here is a third for Billy-boy."
The little girl, drawing herself up,
said laughingly—she had been reading a novel:
"Mr. Taft, you forgot yourself."
He bent down again.
"So I did," he laughed. "Well,
here's one for myself."—Rochester Herald.

RAILWAYS CONTEST RATES

OMAHA, Neb., July 29.—Railroads
will begin a united attack upon the right of states to regulate freight
and passenger rates, in the federal court at Omaha the last week in August or the first week in September. The Nebraska two-cent passenger rate and the Aldrich state freight
rate act reducing rates horizontally 15 per cent will be the acts on which the state issue will be fought.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that
dandruff is the burrowed-out cuticle
of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb.
The hair becomes lifeless, and in time falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to
its natural softness and abun-
dancy.
Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market today.
Sold by leading druggists. Send

As a Woman Testifies.
Prosecutor Elliott R. Hooton was questioning a woman witness on the stand in the criminal court the other day.
"Why did you leave the hotel?" he asked.
The attorney for the defendant objected to the question. He said that it was irrelevant and incompetent,
and the reasons for leaving the hotel had nothing to do with the case
at issue.

"I submit your honor," Mr. Hooton
said to Judge Pritchard, "that the state has a right to know why this witness left the hotel." Then followed a five-minute argument, at
the end of which the judge ruled in favor of the state.
"Now," said Mr. Hooton, "you may tell the jury why you left the hotel."
"Well, because," she said.—Indianapolis Star.

"Influence" of the Press.
A child of 7, a confirmed lie-abed,
rose for three successive mornings
at 7 sharp. His astonished mother,
making up the little bed, found a
scrap of paper under the pillow.
"Death of a child from over-lying."
Being a wise mother, she carefully
replaced the cutting, asked no explanations. Four weeks passed,
and each morning the little lad
has bounded from his bed on the stroke of the hour. Another instance of the uplifting influence of the press.—London Chronicle.

Enlightening Rollo.
"Father," said little Rollo, "what
is an egotist?"
"An egotist, my son, is a burnt
match that thinks it was the whole
fireworks."—Washington Star.

Real Charity
"Oh, Lady Jane, you must take
some tickets for a charity dance I'm helping to get up."
"And what is it for?"
"Oh! er—the—indigent something or other—and the duchess is bringing a party, and we've got the Pink Alsatian band."
"Delighted, I'm sure. One's always ready to help a really good cause."—Punch.

Preface or Appendix
A prominent insurance man in San Francisco tells the following:
"A man went to sleep in the midst of a curtain lecture. When he woke up in the morning the words
were flying as fast as when he went to sleep. 'Say,' he interrupted the harangue to inquire, 'are you talking
yet or again?'"—Circle.

The Auto Shop
When the train stopped at the little southern station the northern
tourist sauntered out on the platform. Under a scrub oak stood a lean animal with scraggy bristles. The tourist was interested.
"What do you call that?" he ques-
ioned of a lanky native.
"Razorback hawg."
"Well, what is he doing rubbing
against that tree?"
"He's stropping himself, mister,
jest stropping himself."—Success Magazine.

The Lay of the Listener
"Money talks," the sages say;
But when I hear its dulcet tone
It always seems so far away
I have to use the telephone;

(Copyright)
By Mary Roberts Rinehart

I fixed on an attempt at burglary,
as the most natural explanation—an attempt frustrated by the falling of
the object, whatever it was, that had roused me. Two things I could not understand; how the intruder had escaped with everything locked, and
and why he had left the small silver,
which, in the absence of a butler,
had remained down-stairs over night.

Under pretext of learning more about the place, Thomas Johnson led
me through the house and the cellars,
without result. Everything
was in good order and repair; money
had been spent lavishly on construction and plumbing. The house was full of conveniences, and I had no reason to repent my bargain, save
the fact that, in the nature of things, night must come again. And other nights must follow—and we were a long way from a police station.

In the afternoon a hack came up
from Casanova, with a fresh crew
of servants. The driver took them with a flourish to the servants' entrance, and drove around to the front of the house where I was awaiting him.

"Two dollars," he said in reply
to my question, "I don't charge full rates, because, bingin' 'em up all summer as I do, it pays to make a special price. When they got off
the train, I sez, sez I, 'There's another bunch for Sunnyside, cook, parlor
maid and all.' Yes'm—six summers, and a new lot never less than once a month. They won't stand for the country and the lonesome-
ness, I reckon."

But with the presence of the
"bunch" of servants my courage revived, and late in the afternoon
came a message from Gertrude that she and Halsey would arrive that night at about eleven o'clock, coming in the car from Richfield. Things
were looking up; and when Beulah,
my cat, a most intelligent animal,
found some early catnip on a bank
near the house and rolled in it in a feline ecstasy, I decided that getting back to nature was the thing to do.

While I was dressing for dinner, Liddy rapped at the door. She was hardly herself yet, but privately I think she was worrying about the broken mirror and its augury, more than anything else. When she came in she was holding something in her hand, and she laid it on the dress-
table carefully.

"I found it in the linen hamper,"
she said. "It must be Mr. Halsey's,
but it seems queer how it got there."
It was the half of a link cuff-button of unique design, and I looked at it carefully.
"Where was it? In the bottom of the hamper?" I asked.
"On the very top," she replied.
"It's a mercy it didn't fall out on the way."

When Liddy had gone I examined
the fragment attentively. I had never seen it before, and I was certain it was not Halsey's. It was of Italian workmanship, and consisted of a mother-of-pearl foundation, en-
crusted with tiny seed-pearls, strung on horsehair to hold them. In the center was a small ruby. The trinket
was odd enough, but not intrinsically of great value. Its interest
for me lay in this: Liddy had found
it lying in the top of the hamper

which had blocked the east-wing
stairs.
That afternoon the Armstrongs'
housekeeper, a youngish good-looking woman, applied for Mrs. Rol-ston's place, and I was glad enough to take her. She looked as though she might be equal to a dozen of Liddy, with her snapping black eyes
and heavy paw. Her name was Anne Watson, and I dined that evening for the first time in three days.

CHAPTER III
Mr. John Bailey Appears.
I had dinner served in the breakfast-room. Somehow the huge dining-room depressed me, and Thomas,
cheerful enough all day, allowed his spirits to go down with the sun. He had a habit of watching the corners
of the room, left shadowy by the
candles on the table, and altogether
it was not a festive meal.

Dinner over I went into the living-room. I had three hours before the children could possibly arrive,
and I got out my knitting. I had brought along two dozen pairs of slipper soles in assorted sizes—I always send knitted slippers to the Ladies' Home at Christmas—and now I sorted over the wools with a grim determination not to think about the night before. But my mind
was not on my work: at the end of a half-hour I found I had put a row
of blue scallops on Eliza Klinefelder's lavender slippers and I put them away.

I got out the cuff-link and went with it to the pantry. Thomas was wiping silver and the air was heavy with tobacco smoke. I sniffed and looked around, but there was no
pipe to be seen.
"Thomas," I said, "you have been smoking."

"No, ma'am." He was injured innocence itself. "It's on my coat,
ma'am. Over at the club the gentlemen—"

But Thomas did not finish. The pantry was suddenly filled with the odor of singeing cloth. Thomas gave a clutch at his coat, whirled to the sink, filled a tumbler with water and poured it into his right pocket with
the celerity of practice.

"Thomas," I said, when he was
sheepishly mopping the floor,
"smoking is a filthy and injurious
habit. If you must smoke, you must;
but don't stick a lighted pipe in your pocket again. Your skin's your own;
you can blister it if you like. But this house is not mine, and I don't want a conflagration. Did you ever see this cuff-link before?"
No, he never had, he said, but he looked at it oddly.

"I picked it up in the hall," I admitted indifferently. The old man's eyes were shrewd under his bushy
eyebrows.
"There's strange goin'-on here, Miss Innes," he said, shaking his head. "Somethin' goin' to happen,
sure. You ain't took notice that the big clock in the hall is stopped, I reckon?"
"Nonsense," I said. "Clocks have
to stop, don't they, if they're not wound?"
He answered solemnly "More'n
that, that there clock ain't stopped
for fifteen years, not since Mr.
that ain't all—no ma'm. Last three nights I slep' in this place, after the electricity went out I had a token.
My oil lamp was full of oil, but it
kep' goin' out, do what I would.
Minute I shet my eyes, out that lamp'd go. There ain't no surer token of death. The Bible sez, Let yer light shine! When a hand you can't see puts yer light out, it means
death, sure."

The old man's voice was full of conviction. In spite of myself I had a chills sensation in the small of my back, and I left him mumbering over his dishes. Later on I heard a crash
from the pantry, and Liddy reported that Beulah, who is coal black,
had darted in front of Thomas just
as he picked up a tray of dishes;
that the bad omen had been too
much for him, and he had dropped
the tray.
The chug of the automobile as it
climbed the hill was the most welcome sound I had heard for a long time, and with Gertrude and Halsey
actually before me, my troubles
seemed over for good. Gertrude stood smiling in the hall, with her
hat quite over one ear, and her hair
in every direction under her pink veil. Gertrude is a very pretty girl,
not matter how her hat is, and I
was not surprised when Halsey pres-

Miss Ella Skailand, 1908 Main street, and Reuben Brabant of 611 St. Cloud street, were quietly married at the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church at 8:30 o'clock last evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. D. C. Jones.

Robert Skailand, a brother of the bride, acted as best man, and Miss Bertie Zein as maid of honor. Immediately after the ceremony the couple and relatives who had witnessed the tying of the nuptial knot repaired to the home of the bride, where an elaborate wedding supper was served.

Both of the young people are well known in the city and have a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Brabant will make their home on the North side.

supervision of Section Foreman Peter Fischbach and are rapidly learning the rudiments of track and section work. Gravel trains are coming in daily from La Crosse and the gravel is being used on the surfacing and finishing of the roadbeds of the tracks in the yards in the eastern part of the city. There is still much work to be done as there has been no section crew here for about a month. But four or five men have been employed here since the other Italians left and they have been used to keep the tracks in running condition.

The extreme hot and sultry weather during the last two days, has as yet not affected the laborers seriously but with the continuation of the high temperature, it is expected that the work will suffer another delay.

The Northwestern road is now the only one here which is experiencing difficulty in securing laborers. The Burlington has a regular section crew out working daily. There are no Italians with this road and their work is being completed rapidly.

The chairman of the buildings and grounds committee of the board of education has issued an order providing that sprinkling shall be done at only one school building at a time during the vacation period, thus saving on the water supply of the city. Under the present arrangement one janitor is reserved for sprinkling work, and he goes from one school to another, sprinkling the lawns of one at a time.

The other janitors are engaged in oiling floors, varnishing desks, painting, etc., and a large number are now engaged in shingling the roof of the Third district school, which was badly in need of repairs.

LAWN SUPPER

Miss Laura Samuels gave a pretty entertainment on the lawn last evening in honor of her guest, Miss Wittmyer of Duluth. Tables were spread under the trees and a buffet luncheon served. The evening was so excessively warm that no special entertainment was attempted. Fans and cooling drinks were in evidence. It was a pleasant affair, notwithstanding, and all were glad of the opportunity to meet the young lady from Duluth.

selves set about devising the most tiresome and trying time schedule conceivable.

As to the scale of wages, Mr. Fay spoke at some length. He described the present sliding scale as "vicious," on account of the temptation it places in the way of the company to lay off old and deserving hands in order to put in inexperienced men at the lowest wage scale.

He cited instances of men being discharged and others who voluntarily resigned because the management had made conditions so difficult for them that they could not stand it, in order to get them out and make places for cheaper help.

Ask 25 Cents Per Hour.

Mr. Fay and members of the union ask for a flat wage scale of 25 cents per hour. This they wish paid to new men as well as old, inasmuch as the new men and "extra" men do not get in the number of hours the older men get.

In the short time Mr. Shaw has been in charge of the company's operative department, said Mr. Fay, 23 men have resigned from the service and 42 have been discharged. Mr. Shaw came to La Crosse from Madison in March, 1908. Of the men so discharged or resigned a greater part were about to step into the next higher wage scale, most of them from the 17 cent to the 19 cent class.

Wages Paid Elsewhere.

A schedule of wages paid in other cities where the men are organized was presented by the organizer. He said that he had sought to find cities which were of about the same population as La Crosse and would not introduce any of the larger cities. The schedule contained about fifty cities, in every one of which the carmen are receiving a higher rate of compensation than in La Crosse.

Arbitrator Ferris objected to the schedule on the grounds that it included no cities in Wisconsin, and only cities where the scale was higher than in this city. Mr. Fay replied that he had anticipated the objection. He asked the arbitrator if he was aware of the fact that wages were smaller all through in the state of Wisconsin than elsewhere and asked him how he accounts for that condition. Ferris replied, "I do not account for it."

Mr. Ferris said, "I have a list of cities here which you have not included in yours, and where the scale paid is not any better than it is here." Fay replied, "I know you have, and figured on that when making up this brief."

Non-Union Men Poorly Paid.

The organizer contended that cities where the men were not organized could not be considered in this connection, because, he said, "it is a matter of common knowledge that where the men are unorganized they often receive much less than they justly earn, in fact, whatever the company is inclined to give them. This is the reason, Mr. Fay said, that there are other cities where the wage scale is a low and even lower than it is in La Crosse."

Aside from the demand for 25 cents per hour, the men ask for time and a half for overtime and double time for service after midnight.

Dispute Over Committees.

The manner of appointing a committee on grievances was argued through and through, but no progress had been made when the board adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Arbitrator Ferris insisted that a standing committee on grievances should be appointed consisting of three union and two non-union employees. This immediately brought protest from the union arbitrator, Mr. Hartwell, and Organizer Fay jumped to his feet at once and declared it impossible.

Mr. Fay said that a committee so composed would be unable to agree in itself, and that no committee so divided against itself could satisfactorily bring grievances before a board of directors or arbitrators as the case might be.

Arbitrator Humphrey of Milwaukee, who is presiding at the sessions, asked for what length of time the term of the settlement now being made would be. Ferris replied that the agreement fixed at this time will be in effect until one year from June 21 last.

Humphrey Wants Agreement.

Mr. Humphrey asked if there was any agreement in writing regarding the present wage scale. Mr. Ferris replied there was none, but added: "As I understand it, there has been a wage scale agreed upon up to September."

Ferris Charges Inconsistency.

Mr. Ferris objected strenuously to the wording of Mr. Fay's brief in the two passages where the organizer declared "We sincerely wish peace and harmony between the men and between the men and the company from this time on. We hope the company has the same desire."

"Any committee composed of both union and non-union men is not practical. It is not even logical theoretically. Suppose in a few weeks some difficulty arises," etc. He said they were not consistent.

Mr. Hartwell—"That is a hypothetical case."

Mr. Ferris—"It doesn't show much of an effort on the part of the union men to be friendly to the non-union men. It is for this very reason that the company wants non-union men on this committee."

Mr. Fay—"The men have shown a disposition to be and have been more than lenient. The very fact that the union has since the strike taken into its organization nine men tends to show that the men are willing to be fair."

Humphrey—"I would ask Mr. Shaw, how many non-union men are there now in the employ of the company?"

Mr. Shaw—"About four or five."

Hartwell Asks Reason.

Arbitrator Hartwell here asked Mr. Ferris what the reason is that the street railway company should have more objection to treating with a committee of union men than the railways, which all have open shops, but which all treat with the grievance committees of union men and do not ask them to serve on committees with non-union men. Mr. Ferris replied that in operating an open shop, the company has a right to have its non-union men represented on the committees, that the man have agreed to co-operate on the open shop.

Regarding Mr. Hartwell's reference to the railways, the company's arbitrator said: "I don't care about the railways. We are just trying to arbitrate this matter of the street car men."

Ferris Tired of Job.

When asked if he had ever heard of any road or instance where a committee of this kind had ever been suggested before, Mr. Ferris replied: "Unfortunately, this is the first affair of this kind I have ever been mixed up in, and I sincerely hope it will be the last."

Mr. Hartwell—"Mr. Ferris, what are the real reasons why the company wants union and non-union men on this same committee? Why cannot they have their own committee and we have ours?"

Mr. Ferris replied that it would be a great deal of time wasted for the company, and a whole lot of unnecessary trouble for the directors to have to deal with two committees.

Mr. Hartwell—"Is time then the only reason?"

Mr. Ferris—"No—that is not exactly."

Mr. Hartwell—"Well, for instance, what are the other reasons?"

Mr. Ferris—"There are a number of them."

Non-union Men Did Not Ask.

Arbitrator Humphrey—"Have the non-union men asked to be represented on this committee?"

Mr. Ferris—"I believe they have."

Mr. Hartwell—"When?"

Mr. Ferris—"I don't know."

Mr. Humphrey—"I would like the

Three Men Have Two Representatives

Mr. Hartwell here raised the question, why did the company wish to have the three non-union men remaining in the company's service, represented on the grievance committee by two men, while the sixty union men were to have only three men on the committee.

Mr. Ferris said that although there are but three non-union men at this time, at some future time, the shops being run as open shops as has been agreed, there may be a majority of non-union men.

Mr. Fay asked Mr. Ferris what he would do as an arbitrator in case such a thing came to pass, and the union men were in the minority, but were represented on the committee by a majority of the committee. Mr. Ferris replied that inasmuch as the agreement was for only a year such a condition cannot occur.

Humphrey to Decide

The board held a secret session last night at the city hall at which it was decided John Humphrey, member of the state arbitration board, and newly selected arbitrator, should decide upon the method of selecting the grievance committee. Mr. Humphrey will not announce his decision in this matter until after the wage scale is taken up and settled.

ATTENDANCE GREAT BOOST FOR LOCALS

Could Win Pennant With a Continuation of It Says President Rooney

POST SEASON CHAMPIONSHIP

Will Be Played Off Between Winners in M.-W. and the Canadian Leagues

The attendance at the ball game yesterday was very pleasing to the local management and President Rooney said today that many people had complimented him on making such a grand success of Tag day, and with the exhibition of ball put up by the Outcasts. The fans yesterday seemed to take a real live interest in the game and the players and the management showed that they appreciated it. With good attendance there is no reason why La Crosse should not win the pennant. The winners of the pennant in the M.-W. league after the season is over will meet the winners of the flag in the Canadian league in a seven game series at Winnipeg for the championship of these two leagues. This will be an international affair, and promises to attract great interest in the sporting world.

Dates have been traded with Winona, one of the principal reasons being to give the ladies of La Crosse an extra ladies' day. The Scrappers are here Friday and Saturday, and it is expected that a large attendance will be had and that the ladies will take advantage of the extra day which is offered them by the management.

President Elliott has notified Managers Killian and Safford that protesting in the next series will have to be done entirely by the managers themselves. He has ordered the umpire to put out all players who begin any "rag chewing" in these games with Winona here and at Winona.

Umpire McRae has received word from his wife that she is considerably improved and has acceded to President Elliott's request to work in the series with Winona. He is one of the most popular arbiters in the league and has the ability to handle the players and keep the game moving without any wrangling. After the series he will leave for his home at Ashabula.

Umpire Anderson has been ordered to Eau Claire for the next series, and Neslon will work at Wausau.

VICE-GRAFT CASES REST TILL SEPT.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The grand jury's pyrotechnics in connection with the alleged payment of money for the protection of vice appear to be at an end. Following an announcement by State's Attorney Wayman that the jury would adjourn tomorrow, one day ahead of time, it was stated today that, for the present the vice charges would not be investigated further. It is the general belief that Wayman feels the present jury has done enough work to keep his office busy for a while and that he will withhold any further "revelations" he may have until the September term.

HARRY C. PULLIAM COMMITS SUICIDE

League President Found in is Room With Bullet Hole Through His Head

HAD FOUGHT WITH MURPHY

This It Is Believed Caused Mental Derangement and the Rash Act Came as a Result

NEW YORK, July 29.—Harry C. Pulliam, president of the National league of professional ball clubs, died this morning at 7:30 o'clock in his rooms at the New York Athletic club, 59th street and Sixth avenue, from a pistol wound, self inflicted. The head of the big league was suffering, it is believed, from mental derangements at the time he fired the fatal shot. He had been in ill health for many months and two of his outbreaks at the baseball meetings, once in Chicago and once in Cincinnati, led to his temporary retirement from the presidency of the league in an effort to regain his mental balance.

Pulliam shot himself a few moments after 9 o'clock last night, the ball going completely through his head, knocking out one of his eyes and severing the optic nerve so that even if he could have recovered he would have been blind.

"Why, I'm Not Shot."

Pulliam was semi-conscious for a time after he was found but could make no statement. When asked why he shot himself he murmured: "Shot myself. Why, I'm not shot." Then he began talking in a rambling way which could not be understood. Once he said:

"Rub my head; my head hurts."

He said nothing more that was intelligible.

According to Coroner Schrad, who was called as soon as Pulliam shot himself and who placed the dying man under technical arrest for attempting suicide, Pulliam left no letters and no intimation of the cause that led up to his suicide.

Telephone Signal Burning

Pulliam has been keeping rooms at the athletic club which he occupied whenever he was in New York. He returned to his rooms last night at 8:30 and locked the doors. No shot was heard but a few minutes after the shot was fired the telephone operator noticed the light on the switchboard was burning, indicating a call from Pulliam's room. She answered but received no reply. A second later, she heard a crash over the telephone as though someone had fallen. Continued calls failed to get an answer and the bellboy was sent to see what was the matter. Peering over the transome he saw Pulliam lying on the floor, clad only in his underclothing, with blood pouring from a bullet wound in his head. Physicians were immediately summoned but announced there was no hope for the baseball leader.

Pulliam's friends declare he broke down mentally as a result of the great strain under which he had been working as head of the National league.

Worked Himself to Death

Always an enthusiast, Pulliam literally worked himself to a state of nervous collapse. At the recent big league meeting at Chicago in February, Pulliam's outbursts led to his temporary retirement. Pulliam boarded a train and went to Cincinnati and then to St. Louis, in both of these cities attracting much attention by his actions. His brother and August Hermann, president of the Cincinnati baseball club found him and had him sent south where he took a long rest and seemed to have recovered entirely, resuming as president of the league. While in the south he underwent an operation on his eyes.

Harry Pulliam was born in Scottsville, Ky., in 1870, and was a graduate of the university of Virginia. He did newspaper work in Louisville and then became the president of the Louisville baseball club. When

O. T. Erhart DRUGGIST

Barney Dreyfuss merged the Pittsburgh and Louisville clubs Pulliam became its secretary. In 1899 he was elected president of the National league and has held that office ever since. He has had many battles with the clubs under his control. He managed the National league during its war with the American league. He has had much trouble with the New York and Chicago baseball clubs' management but even his enemies admitted that Pulliam was a splendid baseball executive and a man who had the interests of the league at heart.

Baseball Men Grieved

CHICAGO, July 29.—All the prominent baseball men here today expressed surprise and grief over the death of President Harry Pulliam of the National league after he had shot himself through the head.

C. W. Murphy of the Chicago Cubs said:

"Pulliam was a grand character personally and everybody loved him. Many of the directors of the National league had feared for him for some time but with his long vacation he hoped he would be restored to health. Those that opposed Pulliam at times in his policies were his friends just the same."

James A. Hart, former owner of the Chicago Cubs, said that while he was shocked he couldn't say he was surprised. "I always feared something like that on account of his high nervous temperament."

During the last National league meeting in Chicago when Pulliam and Murphy were assailing each other freely, fears were expressed that Pulliam might do something desperate. He had evidently worked himself into a highly nervous state over his fight with Murphy and fear of a desperate act on his part is said to have prompted the National league directors to give him an indefinite vacation.

Games Off for Funeral

All games in the American league will be postponed on the day of Pulliam's funeral. This statement was made today by President B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, on his arrival from Cleveland. He said:

"I have just learned of the death of Mr. Pulliam. It is very sad and a great shock to me personally. I have hardly given the matter of postponed games any consideration and am not ready to issue any formal statement at this time. However, I can say that all the American league games will be postponed on the day of Mr. Pulliam's funeral."

Frank C. Doun, claiming to be a representative of the Campbell-Wiley Construction company of Minneapolis was in La Crosse last week, and it is said today that while here he disposed of several worthless checks.

A check signed George E. Wiley, made payable to Frank C. Doun, and bearing the stamp of the Campbell-Wiley Construction company, was cashed Sunday night by Sam Grant. The paper was drawn on a Red Wing bank and its face value was $14.60. It was returned by the bank unpaid last night, with the notation on the margin that the bank carried no such account.

It is thought that other similar checks have been passed in other places. A warrant will be issued for the arrest of Doun if he can be located.

here they will know if the witnesses on the stand are telling the truth or not.

Mr. Ferris—"I object most strenuously to Mr. Hartwell's remarks along this line, inasmuch as all witnesses who will testify before this board will be sworn and will testify under oath. That had ought to be sufficient."

Organizer Fay—"Am I to understand that the board of directors are to be here to argue their case before this board?"

Mr. Humphrey—"I presume that they will be allowed to state their case."

Mr. Fay—"Who will be here to state the case of the carmen?"

Mr. Humphrey—"You at least will be one, as I have subpoenaed you as a witness before this board."

After considerable more squabbling, in which Mr. Hartwell hunted up the statutes governing arbitrations of this kind, Mr. Humphrey made the following ruling: "Being as this is a public utility and the people are interested, it is just as fair for one as it is for another that these sessions be open to the people. Anyone can come in, provided they pass no remarks. If they do so they will be required to leave the room."

"If this were a private concern, this would most certainly be a closed session, but as it is a public utility in which the interests of the public are involved, the sessions will be open."

Mr. Hartwell—"I wish to qualify my statement of a moment ago. I did not mean to give the impression that I objected to Mr. Ferris' other business which called him out of the city. I only objected on the reason he gave for having the meetings closed. I shall be perfectly willing at any time to adjourn the session if he has business engagements which call him elsewhere."

Mr. Ferris thanked the carmen's arbitrator for the concession.

S.S.S. HEALS SORES AND ULCERS

S. S. S. heals Sores and Ulcers in the very simplest way. It just goes right down into the blood and removes the cause, and the place is found to heal because the impurities and morbid matters which have been the means of keeping the ulcer open are no longer absorbed from the blood. External applications of salves, lotions, plasters, etc., can never provide a cure because they do not reach the source of the trouble. At best they can only allay pain or reduce inflammation; such treatment is working on symptoms and not reaching the cause. Every nutritive corpuscle into blood is weakened or infected, they cannot nourish the fibrous tissue around the place, but instead they constantly discharge into the flesh around the sore a quantity of impure, germ-laden matter which gradually eats into the surrounding healthy tissue and causes the ulcer to enlarge. Since impure blood is responsible for Sores and Ulcers, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a cure. S. S. S. has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the qualities necessary to remove every impurity from the blood. While curing the sore or ulcer S. S. S. brings about a healthy condition of the flesh by supplying it with rich healthy blood, and thus makes the cure permanent and lasting. Book of Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

PRES. STANDS PAT; CONFER WITH DEM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—President Taft is standing pat on his determination to secure a reduction of the duty on lumber to $1.25 per thousand feet, and the retention of the reduced senate rates on gloves, according to statements made by congressional callers at the White house today.

The democratic members of the conference committee were present at the meeting today, the first time since the opening of the committee. This indicates that the work of the committee is about completed.

The most extraordinary thing in connection with framing up of the tariff bill is the tremendous influence wielded by former Congressman Littauer of Gloversville, N. Y. He is a manufacturer of gloves as was his father before him. He is wealthy and a "good fellow."

With these qualifications he came to Washington at the beginning of the present special session with the avowed purpose of raising the tariff on women's gloves to such an extent that foreign makes would be excluded from this country except at prohibitive prices, leaving himself in control of the American market, he being the largest manufacturer.

President Taft, however, is credited with having declared in effect that he did not mind having a particular schedule arranged in behalf of a single state or even in behalf of a single senator but he did object to having it fixed to suit the views and interests of a single manufacturer. So he put his foot down and Littauer lost.

AFFINITY WOMAN BEGINS SENTENCE

CHICAGO, July 29.—Marion Grey, the "Affinity Agent" whose one year sentence to the Bridewell was commuted by President Taft to a month at the House of the Good Shepherd, commenced her sentence today. Miss Grey had a "soul mate bureau" where fees were paid to secure wives and husbands and men and women who had invoked her aid testified against her during the trial.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and aches women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and carefully confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

WINS SUIT; IS SHOT DEAD IN COURT

Two Shots Fired; One Nearly Hits Senator Davis; Ellis Who Fired is Arrested

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 29.—N. P. Willis of Indianapolis, Ind., was shot and killed by W. Y. Ellis of Pine Bluff, Ark., while in the Pulaski county chancery court. The shooting followed the victory of Willis in a suit over the custody of the 8-year-old daughter of Willis and his former wife, now Mrs. Ellis.

Two shots were fired by Ellis. The first missed Willis and buried itself in the wall near the head of United States Senator Jeff Davis, who as counsel for Willis, was seated near him. The second, fired as Willis was attempting to run from the room, struck him in the back. Willis staggered into the judge's chambers where he died soon after.

Mrs. E. Willis, mother of Nathaniel P. Willis of Indianapolis, shot and killed in court yesterday by W. Y. Ellis, is hysterical today. In her rooms at the hotel here she continually calls for her dead son and asks those who are permitted to see her to assure her that the dead man will soon be well.

Her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Kling, sister of the dead man, is almost as hysterical as her mother. She is confined to her room at the hotel and is under the care of physicians. Late last night when Senator Jeff Davis, tried to quiet Mrs. Willis she tried to attack him with an umbrella.

It is intimated the defense will be that the killing was justified because Willis had hounded Ellis' wife for a number of years.

Senator Davis declares the killing was a cowardly assassination. He declares that he believes Ellis went to the court room prepared to kill Willis.

Once there was a woman. There had been numerous other women before and since, but this one in particular attracted attention. "I hate a knocker," she used to say. Her animosity toward the genius knocker who sounded her so that all knocking sounded alike. One day as she sat on the pink piazza playfully perusing a pamphlet, she heard a knock.

"Scat you!" she cried in a flurry in the direction of the knocker. The latter obeyed, but fancy the chagrin and disheartened air of the woman when she glanced up long enough to observe that it was Madame Opportunity she had chased away. Calling vainly after the dismissed visitor, she at last broke down in tears. She has been crying ever since, but to no avail. An opportunity missed or shunned is an opportunity lost for all time.

WAUSAU, Wis., July 29.—A 4-year-old boy is believed to have been kidnaped from the home of A. J. Vandewater, a farmer at Shepley, near Eland Friday night. The boy was out playing about 6 o'clock and disappeared soon after a team drove by and his parents have been unable to find him.

It's enough to make an emotional actress weep when she can't make her audience do it.

NEW EVIDENCE IS AGAINST STONE

Actions of Pres. and Sec. in Disapproving Him to Deputy Wardenship; Approved by C. S. Board

MADISON, Wis., July 29.—The action of the president and secretary in disapproving of the temporary appointment of J. W. Stone to the position of deputy fish and game warden, by letter on July 12, was approved.

The foregoing minutes of the proceedings of the civil service commission, announced today, writes another chapter in the political clean-up of the state game warden's department. That something more than the evidence given by Stone—while chief game warden—before the senatorial investigation committee is the basis for this action also is disclosed in the minutes, as the commission is shown to have ordered Secretary F. E. Doty to transmit to the governor and the chief game warden the newly-discovered evidence upon which the action is based. This evidence also applies to former Deputy Warden G. W. Dart of Montello, who will be remembered as the witness before the investigation who so frequently punctuated his testimony with "cuss" words.

Answers to the twelve questions propounded, the temporary appointments as deputy game wardens are being received daily at the office by the commission, which has set Aug. 3 as the last day in which such answers may be filed. The questions all relate to political activity and political contributions, as to the governor's campaign fund and the answers thus far appear to conform with the testimony in this regard received by the investigation committee.

In view of the fact that Attorney General Gilbert has reversed a former opinion and filed a correction

DAVIDSON LONGS FOR FOURTH TERM

MADISON, Wis., July 29.—It may be accepted as a fact that Gov. Davidson is seriously considering the question of trying for a fourth term in the governor's chair. He seems to think that another term is necessary by way of personal vindication and he is throwing out "feelers" and making preliminary plans.

The governor's first term, it will be remembered, came to him as a result of his being lieutenant governor when Gov. La Follette accepted the United States senatorship.

That gave him the larger part of one term. He is now serving his second elective term, and because of criticisms growing out of the legislative investigation of the senatorial primary campaign, he thinks that he ought to have still another term as a fitting finish to his political career.

The governor seems to realize that he is out of the question as a senatorial candidate, but he apparently believes that he is still good gubernatorial timber. He is handling the matter in a most characteristic manner. To those who suggest to him that he ought to run again, he says in a half-hearted sort of way that he really can not afford to hold the office any longer.
